CALL FOR PAPERS

“A Sword Between the Sexes:
C.S. Lewis and the Psychology of Gender”

Website: www.bacip.org.uk/conference/2008

Distinguished speaker: Mary Stewart Van Leeuwen, Ph.D.

Professor of Psychology and Philosophy, Eastern University, Pennsylvania

You are invited to submit a proposal for a presentation at the BACIP 18th Annual Conference. The theme for our 2008 meeting is “A Sword Between the Sexes: C.S. Lewis and the Psychology of Gender”. The BACIP Steering Group invites proposals representing all areas of psychology and Christian theology as they relate to gender, including empirical research, theory, and clinical practice. Papers concerning other topics on the interface of psychology and Christianity will also be considered.

Session topics might include:

- * What does “gender” mean?
- * Biblical accounts of sex and gender
- * Historical perspectives on Christian attitudes towards sex and gender
- * Christian views on gender and roles
- * Gender and sexuality
- * Psychological issues in complementarianism and egalitarianism

Format and deadlines for proposals:

Papers: Abstracts should be 350 words in length, and the length of your paper should be approximately 1 hour. Submission deadline: February 1, 2008.

Posters: Abstracts should be 200 words in length or, if available, the presentation can be submitted. Submission deadline: March 15, 2008.

Each proposal should be accompanied by a submission form and sent as a Word document or in PDF format. Proposals and submission forms should be emailed to Bonnie Zahl, Conference Programme Committee, at bpz21@cam.ac.uk or by posted to:
